Jack of Hearts

A Tribute To Bob Dylan

About

Jack of Hearts is a Bob Dylan tribute band based in Los Angeles, California. The band focuses on recreating Dylan's sound across multiple eras, from the early 60s folk recordings through the move to electric material, Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock period, and into the 70s, including Blood on the Tracks, the Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond.

The approach is centered on an authentic live presentation of Dylan's work and its range, covering the shifts in style that defined his catalog over more than five decades.

Jack of Hearts has performed across the Southwest, presenting a live show built around the best-known eras and songs from Dylan's folk and rock output.

Short bio

The Jack of Hearts Band authentically replicates Bob Dylan's sound, from the early 1960s folk scene and electric conversion through Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock retreat, the 1970s, Blood on the Tracks, Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond. They have performed across the Southwest with a live American folk-rock experience.

Full press bio

The Jack of Hearts Band authentically replicates Bob Dylan's sound across his major musical eras: the early 1960s folk scene, the radical electric conversion culminating in Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock retreat, the 1970s, Blood on the Tracks, the Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond. With Dylan's timeless poetry and American folk-rock at the center, the band brings a live experience to audiences across the Southwest. Dylan's body of work has remained influential for over five decades and earned him the Nobel Prize in Literature.
