About

The Strange Parade is one of Colorado's premier tribute bands, dedicated to the authentic revival of The Doors. The sounds lovingly replicate the instrumentation and tone of the original group. The Gibson G101 organ tones of Ray Manzarek's distinct right hand were sampled from the true instrument, and a Fender Rhodes Piano Bass fills in the bottom end. Committed to the simple, live direction of the original group, The Strange Parade is not your usual cover band—there is no script, the musicians don't refer to each other as Jim or Ray, and no one ever wears a wig. Four members, improvisation, theater, and the unknown are the elements of The Strange Parade.

Short bio

The Strange Parade is a four-member tribute to The Doors, recreating the original group's instrumentation and tone with sampled Gibson G101 organ tones and Fender Rhodes Piano Bass. Their live approach leaves room for improvisation, theater, and the unknown.

Full press bio

The Strange Parade is a four-member tribute dedicated to an authentic revival of The Doors. The band recreates the original group's instrumentation and tone, including sampled Gibson G101 organ tones reflecting Ray Manzarek's distinct right hand and Fender Rhodes Piano Bass for the low end. Their live approach is simple and unscripted: no wigs, no character names, and no fixed script. Improvisation, theater, and the unknown shape each performance.
